Editor's Note

The current issue - Volume 2, Number 1 is a slightly altered version of the Journal in that it is now named as 'The Journal of Gono Bishwabidyalay' catering for all the Faculties, Colleges and Institutes of the University.

So this Issue has a wider focus including manuscripts from all the disciplines covering the English, Law, Environment, Business, Health Science and Microbiology.

We hope our efforts to improve the quality of the Journal and encouraging the young colleagues to publish more by bringing out two issues a year will help us to achieve our goal – providing our teachers and students better teaching-learning and getting involved in research.

Authors' Guidelines

Editorial policy: The Journal of Gono Bishwabidyalay is devoted to the publication of original research and reviews covering the fields of Arts, Physical, Environmental, Medical and Social Sciences including Commerce and Law. Contributions are published in English or Bengali after reviewing by two peers. The author(s) should submit an article that has not been published or offered to any other journals for publication.

Plagiarism, presenting someone else's work or ideas as one's own, with or without their consent, by incorporating it into work without full acknowledgement will strictly be checked.

Manuscript: The text of the article should be clear and precise. Manuscripts should be double spaced, printed in font size 12, Times New Roman, on one side of quality paper with margin on all sides. Manuscripts and illustrations should be submitted in duplicate and the author should retain one copy. The sequence should be: Title, Author's name and affiliation, Abstract, Key words, Introduction, Materials and Methods, Results and Discussion, Acknowledgements and References.

Title page: Title page should include the title of the paper, the name and address and e-mail of the author(s) and suggested running head (10 characters or less). If authors are not from a single affiliation, superscript numerals are to be used to designate each affiliation. The affiliations are to be typed below the author line designated with appropriate superscripts in order of appearance. The title page should include complete name, address, telephone and fax numbers and e-mail address of the author to whom galley proof and other correspondence should be sent.

First page: This page should carry the title of the paper, abstract and key words not exceeding six, immediately below the abstract. The title should be brief and very specific.

Abstract: Each full paper should have an abstract containing the gist of the results obtained and should not exceed 150 words.

Illustrations: Illustrations may be line drawings or photographs and all should be numbered in a single sequence and reference to the text as Fig. 1, 2 etc. Each figure must be in a separate page and clearly identified with the author(s) name and short title of the manuscript and figure number. Original figures or good quality glossy photographic prints are acceptable.

Photographs must have sharp contrast. All illustrations must be complete and final, i.e., camera ready. Photographs should be selected to fit neatly into one column (83 mm) or two columns (172 mm).

Tables: Tables must be presented to fit the page size 172 × 230 mm without undue reduction. Over-sized tables will not be accepted. Tables are referred to as Table 1, 2 etc. Tables should be provided in separate page and may be typed on more than one sheet of paper printed horizontally.

References: In the text, references to articles should be limited to the author and year style, and must be arranged chronologically then in alphabetical order. The references should be listed at the end of the paper first in the alphabetical order under author(s) name and then in chronological order if several papers are cited by the same author(s). To distinguish papers published by same author(s) in the same year letters a, b, c etc. are to be used after the year.

Short communications: Short research information should not exceed three printed pages (900 words) including Graphs, Tables and Figures. The presentation should be continuous and paragraphed, i.e. without headings like Introduction, Materials and Methods, etc. A short communication paper should have an Abstract containing the gist of the paper and should not exceed 60 words.

Declaration: At least one author must be regular members of the University at the time of submitting their papers, and are required to sign a declaration certifying that the work was carried out by them and the contents of the paper were neither published before nor submitted for publication in any other journal, and that they have submitted their articles for consideration by the Editorial Committee of this Journal.

The author(s) will have to pay the cost of additional pages exceeding six printed pages in the journal.

The author(s), if desires for multicolour printing will have to pay the extra cost.

Soft copy: A soft copy of the final version of the manuscript in CD-R is mandatory. All CD-R should carry the label showing author, title and file name. Contact: All editorial correspondence should be addressed to the Editor.
